

EXT-A01 (Exos) Liquid Cooling System, Black [06mm, 1/4in]

Bring powerful liquid cooling technology to an existing computer! The Exos is the world's first professional self-contained PC liquid cooling system.

Koolance maintains its reputation for professional products by simplifying installation-- there is no need for special tools or case modifications. Utilizing a patent-pending design, the Exos connects to any PC through a standard rear card slot. Other great Exos features:

- Quick-connect rear valves for easy transport or disassembly
- Adapted power connection - does not require an AC power outlet
- Optional attachment strap for systems that are "on the go"
